Giffard

Coat of Arms of Walter Giffard, Earl of Longueville in Normandy. For his gallant services to William the Conqueror at the battle of Hastings, 1066, he was granted the title of Earl of Buckingham, and lands with one hundred and seven lordships.

INTRODUCTION.

DEAR READER :—

I take much pleasure in placing in your hands this the first genealogy of the Gifford family.

For several years past I have devoted much time collecting data and examining records for this volume. Many obstacles have been encountered, which the casual reader little dreams of. The greatest of these is the fact that a large percentage of my correspondence remains unanswered. Many records have been destroyed, lost, and mutilated, and it is only through diligent inquiry, and comparison of various notes and records of the past, that the record is given in its present connected form.

I am sensible that, under these circumstances, there is a chance for many great defects in this performance, wherein very little assistance was to be obtained from publications and others. I hope, therefore, for much indulgence, striking, as I have done, into a new and dark path, without a guide.

A readable page for many must be enlivened with description, narratives and personal anecdotes. Those who take an interest in genealogy, I feel safe to say, will find this a pleasing volume. If it is not as complete in its data as the reader would like, it is not due to any oversight of mine; upon those who might have aided in this work, but have remained silent, must fall that reproach.

I hereby extend thanks to those who have kindly given me their assistance, and trust that my efforts will be appreciated.

Respectfully yours,

HARRY E. GIFFORD.

CHAPTER I.

This volume is intended to treat only upon the American branches of our family. The earliest data I have is from "Hotten's Emigration to America" which gives Francis Gifford having a 50-acre plantation planted (by patent) in the "Corporacon of James Cittie," Virginia, in 1626. I find also in the same volume that Edward Gifford emigrated from London, Eng., to Virginia in the "Safety" Aug. 10. 1635, he being 30 years of age. I find nothing more relative to these two.

The next I find to be William Gifford who, according to "Huntington's History of Stamford, Conn.," was before the court of that settlement in 1647 or before. The sentence of the court against him was that he be whipped at the court's discretion and banished.

I believe this William Gifford to be the same William Gifford we find living in Sandwich, Mass., and a member of the Grand Inquest at Plymouth in 1650.

He continued to reside in Sandwich until his death with the exception of five years between 1665 and 1670 when he with George Allen and the sons of Peter Gaunt, all of Sandwich, together with others, were first proprietors of and settled Monmouth, N. J., having purchased the land of the Indians and to whom the Monmouth Patent was granted, 8 April 1665. They being adherents to the Quaker faith, suffered severely by fines and vexatious suits both in Massachusetts and New Jersey.

William Gifford owned land in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. His Massachusetts possessions consisted of lands in Sandwich, Falmouth and Dartmouth. The facsimile of deed accompanying this volume represents a 40-acre parcel purchased of a Suckanessett (Falmouth) Indian named Job Attukkoo, July 24, 1673.

He gave by will to his sons Jonathan and James lands in Falmouth, Mass. He also deeded to his sons Robert and Christopher, lands in Dartmouth, Mass., both of whom erected homesteads upon their estates. Robert continued to live in Dartmouth while Christopher moved later to Little Compton, R. I. Both have many descendants now living in southern Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

William probably deeded his Connecticut lands to his son John who gave by will 100 acres in the Colony of Connecticut to his son Samuel and 200 acres to his grandsons.

The descendants of William are here given as the Massachusetts branch.

SEEKING RELATIVES.

Isabel L. Bryan writes from Mayaguez, July 7, 1893, to the New York Tribune as follows:

"Two respectable young ladies want to find relatives in the United States, and hope that you will kindly help them through your newspaper. Their title to the sympathy of all American hearts is that their grandfather fought in the war of independence; their grandfather was American consul in Puerto-Rico; their father, Edward Gifford, died years ago. They are not certain if he was from New Bedford or from Boston, Mass. There were a John Gifford, manufacturer of machinery, and his sister Sarah, uncle and aunt of the young ladies' father, and a George Gifford, his brother, who lost an eye in the United States service during the last war, and two cousins, Ellen and Georgiana Gifford. If somebody has some information to give, it might be addressed to 'Dona Isabel L. Bryan, Mayaguez, Puerto-Rico.' "

CHAPTER III.

Stephen Gifford was an original home lot owner, with all the privileges of a first proprietor, at Norwich, Conn., 1659, although at this, the time of dating the deed of the first purchase, he was not believed to be of age.

(NOTE.—I believe this Stephen to be a son of William of Sand, by his first wife.—AUTHOR.)
